HIGH SCHOOL SITE

LOGICAL ARGUMENT BY P. S. MCNUTT FOR GROUND EAST INSTEAD OF WEST

Will any number of wrong make a right? If so, how many are required? So many mistakes have been made on this behalf that there have been good grounds for the fear that we would never have suitable grounds and buildings for a future high school. But it is yet possible, and now is the time to act.

Originally it was wrong to locate the school on two acres of ground at Brand and Broadway. The grounds were too small and the building was not fit. It was wrong to move to the present site for it is not a proper place and the grounds were too small. Next it was wrong to extend across Maryland up against the hind ends of future business blocks. And now the most egregious wrong and real blunder would be to extend to Brand either for half or a whole block, as that would not only be no place for the school, but it would divide and possibly spoil Brand as the future business street and the school site would still be too small.

The general reasons why the center of a business district is not suitable for a school are so many and so cogent that they scarcely need be stated. It is the consensus of opinion everywhere that a school is not merely a thing at which tourists may look or for the use of real estate men in booming sales of property, but is in effect a quiet institution and should be in a rather secluded spot where the youth of the district may have comfortable and suitable facilities and equipment for acquiring the rudiments of an education. Also a valid objection to the business district is that the expense is too great. It would be bad business judgment to pay $20,000 to $25,000 for fifty-foot lots on Brand when we could get ground at a few thousand dollars per acre only a short distance away. Then there is the question of danger of fire to the buildings and of accidents to the pupils on the busy streets.

A Brand New Site With All New Buildings

An ideal and convenient site would be bounded on the east by Glendale Avenue, on the south by Colorado, on the west by Louise and on the north by Harvard. This would make about fifteen acres and about the right size—none too large. The High School district has now perhaps 15,000 people. There are 3000 vacant lots now and when large nearby acre—

MRS. BAXTER BUILDING

Mrs. Mary Baxter is building a Colonial bungalow on Ivy near Pacific, with a garage in harmony with the house. The bungalow is a cozy affair of four rooms with built-in features just big enough to make a pleasant home for Mrs. Baxter and her son. She has wanted a really, truly home for a long time and has owned the lot for about five years, but, as she says: "A lot is of very little good to you unless you can make use of it." She is looking forward to her new home with bright anticipations and is impatient for it to be finished.

WILLIAM W. ESTERLY

TO UNDERGO OPERATION TODAY FOR REMOVAL OF SHRAPNEL IN HIS LUNGS

The many friends in this city of William Esterly, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Esterly, former residents of Glendale, but now living in Los Angeles, will feel deeply concerned over the information that today he is to go onto the surgeon's table at Crocker Hospital, Los Angeles, to undergo an operation on his lungs for the removal of shrapnel lodged there by a bursting shell while he was in the service of his country on the firing line during the war. A clean healthy body and wonderful vitality enabled him to survive seven serious wounds suffered in a major engagement, but surgeons until now have hesitated to undertake the delicate and difficult task of the lung operation. He has therefore been compelled to suffer months of pain and almost complete disability. No other man who went from here overseas and returned alive has paid as heavy a toll as has this fine young man, and the community and nation owes him a debt it can never pay. If there is saving power in good thoughts and prayer the citizenship of Glendale should unite in petitions that this ex-service man may be completely restored to health.

FIRE IN WASH

EFFICIENT SERVICE OF FIRE DEPARTMENT SAVES FLOOD CONTROL WORK

Wednesday afternoon about three o'clock the engines and firemen at Station No. 1 responded to a call to extinguish a blaze in the wash between Brand and Louise. On arrival they found the new protection work just completed in a blaze, but were able to extinguish it completely in the course of half an hour's work, which required the laying of 1200 feet of hose. The only explanation as to the cause of the fire that suggested itself to Fire Chief Lankford was that it had either been started by mischievous boys or had caught from the cigarette stub of some workman who may have sneaked off to enjoy a quiet little smoke away from observation, as no work was going on at that spot and no likely cause for a conflagration was apparent. It was all surmise, however. No very serious damage was wrought as all the piling was saved and only the brush destroyed and that for a short distance. The chief and his men have been much gratified by the receipt of the following letter from Mr. Daley, the constructing engineer:

Glendale, Cal., Jan. 7, 1920.
Mr. A. H. Lankford,
Chief of Fire Department,
City of Glendale, Cal.

Dear Sir:—I wish to take this time to thank you and your men for the timely work in saving the protection work on Verdugo Wash between Louise street and Brand Boulevard on the afternoon of January 7th. The remarkable record you made in stopping the headway of the fire saved the Los Angeles County Flood Control District considerable money, not to mention the value of your services as represented in saving the district from flood waters should they arise.

Should you, in the future, need our help at any time, you have but to call on us and we will endeavor to return the favor in some measure.

Please accept the accompanying memento of my appreciation and be sure to give my personal thanks to each one of your men, along with the smokes to think it over.

Very sincerely yours,

George E. Daley,
Const. Eng. Verdugo Wash.

TWELFTH NIGHT REVELS

MASQUERADE COSTUME DANCE PROVES A GORGEOUS SPECTACLE

The masquerade costume dance with which the "Players' Club of Glendale" made its bow to the public and indulged in Twelfth Night revels at Masonic Temple Wednesday night was a very pretty affair. Hard work on the part of some of the officials and patrons of the club had provided a beautiful holiday setting. Red, white, and green streamers were festooned from chandelier to chandelier; there were ivy festoons upon the walls and a screen of Christmas trees across the front of the stage where the very excellent orchestra was placed. The great variety of costume and coloring made the ballroom a kaleidoscope of gay hues, for on this occasion some of the men were gorgeous in Oriental costumes, in knightly garb or the gaudy togs of a circus clown. The black cap and gown of the college student and the somber robe of the monk were conspicuously absent. Second to clowns in popularity were sailor suits and Chinese costumes. The most striking of the last mentioned was worn by D. L. Green, president of the organization, who looked—

CHICAGO PEOPLE BUY GLENDALE HOME

Four months ago John Cooper and family came to Glendale from Chicago, where he had been with the Morris Packing Company for a number of years, buying the property at 607 North Isabel. Mr. Cooper's sister, Mrs. J. A. Hunter, and her husband were then living in Pasadena, having moved there from Chicago. Wishing to be near their relatives, the Hunters decided to come to Glendale, so they bought the house Mr. Piggs is building at the northwest corner of Kenwood and Lexington Drive. While waiting for the completion of the house they are living with the Coopers. Mr. Hunter was with Morris & Co. for nearly 30 years, and when he retired about a year ago, he was general office manager.

DEMOCRATS INDORSE PRESIDENT'S STAND

SAN FRANCISCO MAY BE CHOSEN AS CONVENTION CITY; KANSAS CITY ALSO IN RUNNING

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 8.—The democratic national committee today unanimously passed a resolution indorsing President Wilson's stand for the ratification of the peace treaty. The resolution characterized senators who opposed the treaty and the reservationists also as "worthy of the contempt of the world."

Former Senator Lewis of Illinois appealed to the committee for the selection of Chicago as the convention city. Isadore B. Dockweiler of San Francisco and Mary Foy of the same city, invited the democrats to hold their convention there. Dockweiler's speech aroused much enthusiasm. He said that San Francisco would raise $125,000 for expenses and he deposited a check with the chairman of the committee for $100,000 as a guarantee, saying that an additional sum for an entertainment fund would be raised. Kansas City appeared to be San Francisco's closest competitor.

CROSS EXAMINATION OF ALIENISTS

MORNING SESSION AT HARRY NEW TRIAL DEVOTED TO THAT WORK WITH DR. CALDER ON STAND

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 8.—The monotonous examination of alienists continued today at the Harry New murder trial. The indications were that arguments would not be reached before tomorrow. There have been several delays on account of lengthy cross examinations and court was late in convening today because of the illness of a juror.

Dr. D. H. Calder was on the stand for cross-examination most of the morning. He believes that New is sane.

THREE THOUSAND PERISH

HEAVY DEATH TOLL IN MEXICAN EARTHQUAKE; MANY INJURED; GREAT PROPERTY LOSS

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

MEXICO CITY, Jan. 8.—A Vera Cruz dispatch today confirmed reports that the villages of Saltillo, La Fagua, Ocoleta, Mansanillo, Plata and Chicota were practically wiped out by Saturday's earthquake. Only the ruins of those villages remain. Many other towns were heavily damaged. Scores of persons died from lack of medical attention, food and shelter. It is now estimated that the total death list will reach 3000 with 3000 additional severely injured. The property damage is running into many millions.

IN SOUTH SEAS

FREDERICK O'BRIEN AT GLENDALE HOME AFTER YEAR IN ORIENT

Frederick O'Brien arrived at his home in Glendale, 501 South Pacific Avenue, Wednesday morning after a year spent in the Marquesas Islands in the South Seas. This was Mr. O'Brien's fifth trip to the Orient, so the journey was no novelty to him. Mr. and Mrs. O'Brien lived in the Orient and in the Hawaiian Islands for several years before coming to Glendale ten years ago.

Mr. O'Brien went to these interesting far-off lands to study the people at first hand and gather material for a book which is already in its third edition.

The Marquesas group is made up of very small islands, the largest being about the size of Catalina. They are thought to be the highest mountain tops of a submerged continent, and at some points rise abruptly out of the Pacific to a height of 4000 feet. They are said to have the most perfect climate in the world. Mr. O'Brien describes them as bits of Paradise, dream islands that fascinate and allure. Robert Louis Stevenson said of them: "Few men who come to the islands leave them; they grow gray where they alighted; the palm shades and the trade wind fan them till they die; perhaps cherishing to the last the fancy of a visit home which is rarely made, more rarely enjoyed and yet more rarely repeated."

But the people have deteriorated and have become almost exterminated by the white man's civilization and the white man's diseases. Mr. O'Brien came to know and understand them, he found them lovable and esteemed them highly.

Jack London, Stevenson, Stoddard, Charles Becke and Gauguin, the artist who worked there several years and is buried there, gave us glimpses of these wonder islands of the Pacific, but Mr. O'Brien's book, "White Shadows in the South Seas," is a complete and fascinating account of his wonderful year among those primitive people.

Mr. O'Brien became widely known throughout California during the war when he served as assistant to Food Administrator Merritt.

BACK HOME AFTER SIX YEARS

Seven years ago Mrs. Addie Moorman moved to Glendale with her young daughter, Nellie, and the latter entered High School in the freshman year. They lived on Colorado, between Kenwood and Jackson. One year later the longing for the old home and friends in the East became too strong for the mother and they went back to Indianapolis. There the little girl grew to womanhood and about two years ago she married F. J. Rogers. They came to California on their wedding trip and decided then that Glendale should be their future home. The mother died soon after their return to Indianapolis, and they moved to Oxford, Ohio. But Glendale called them and last week they arrived. Of course no house was available to rent, so they solved the problem by purchasing the six-room bungalow on North Kenwood, near Doran, that is nearing completion. They moved into the three finished rooms in order to have a place on which to lay their heads. Mrs. Rogers expresses herself as being delighted that her dream of a home in Glendale is at last realized.

TOOLS STOLEN

Roy L. Kent was called to Los Angeles this morning by a message from the foreman in charge of workmen employed by Kent & Son for the building of a warehouse on Santa Fe Avenue, Los Angeles. The message stated that thieves had stolen the entire outfit of tools belonging to the workmen which had been stored over night in a tool house. Whether this loss will seriously delay building operations or whether any of the material was lifted by the thieves, has not yet been ascertained by Mr. Kent. Seven or eight men were at work on the job.

MOVE INTO UNFINISHED HOME

John Guttentunz, an employee of the S. P., recently bought a very slightly lot at 1317 East Harvard and commenced the erection of a seven-room bungalow, with a garage in the rear. Though the house, which makes a very attractive appearance, is not yet completed, the family moved out from Los Angeles and are sort of camping in the finished rooms until all is done. They are delighted with their new home and particularly enjoy the pure air of this favored section.

SIMON-BEACH

MARRIAGE OF GRACE BEACH AND "SID" SIMON CELEBRATED WEDNESDAY EVE.

In the presence of about seventy-five witnesses, practically all of them young people who were special friends of the bride and groom, Grace Beach, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Beach, and Sidney Simon, youngest son of Mrs. Louise B. Simon of this city, were united in marriage at 7:30 o'clock Wednesday evening at the home of the bride's parents at 633 North Brand Boulevard. Dr. E. H. Willisford was the officiating clergyman, using the double ring ceremony, the two rings being carried to the altar on white satin pillows by little Bettie Lou and Bettie May Martin, the twin daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Martin of Long Beach, special friends of the bride and groom. The ceremony was preceded by the playing by Miss Alice Gray Beach of both the Mendelssohn and Lohengren wedding marches, and the singing by Mrs. C. D. Hellyer of "Because." The very beautiful decorations provided for the event included a floral aisle of pedestals capped with pink and white carnations through which the bridal party advanced to a big wedding bell of pink and white rosebuds and sweet peas beneath which the ceremony took place. The lovely bride was attired in white satin trimmed with real lace, and her wedding veil was capped with a coronet of real orange blossoms. Her bouquet was of orchids and white rosebuds. She was attended by but one bridesmaid, her sister, Helen Beach, who was gowned in orchid taffeta silk and who carried pink sweet peas. Walter Beach, brother of the bride, served as best man.

Following the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Simon made a clever stratagem escape from the doings with which the groom had been threatened by fellow members in the Elks' Club. Representing that they were to sign the marriage license, they retired to the library, slipped away through a rear door and were well along on their honeymoon journey before their absence was discovered by the merry company, which had expected to make them the victims of the usual wedding pranks. Their destination is still a secret, but will probably be revealed shortly. They will be gone about ten days and on their return will be at home to their friends about the first of February at their residence at 500 North Isabel Street, whose furnishings will include the many beautiful wedding gifts of which they were the recipients.

The marriage is the culmination of a romance of long standing, the engagement dating from their freshman year in Glendale Union High School. The groom is an ex-service man who was engaged overseas with the 143d Field Artillery. Both of the young people are exceedingly popular and have a large circle of friends who will rejoice that they are to remain in Glendale.

A few days of cool weather adds interest to life in Southern California where the chilly winds seldom blow.

BEST PLACE IN WORLD

GLENDALE AHEAD OF ANYTHING ELDER E. E. ANDROSS FOUND IN TOUR OF GLOBE

After traveling more than 50,000 miles on his trip around the world, and visiting the Hawaiian Islands, Japan, China, the Philippine Islands, India, Burma, South and Central Africa, and the British Isles, Elder Elmer E. Andross, vice president of the General Conference of the Seventh-day Adventists, recently returned to the United States, by way of the Atlantic, and last week was a visitor in Glendale, his old home. He has now returned to Washington, D. C., the headquarters of the denomination. While here he said that on his trip west he found the thermometer registering 50 below zero at Calgary, Alberta, Canada, and also found very cold weather in Walla Walla, Wash., and Portland, Ore. But when he reached California all this was changed. He says there is no place he has yet found in his worldwide travels where he would rather live than in Glendale, but the duties of his work require him to make his home in the East.

He said he plans to return to the Pacific Coast early in February, to attend the quadrennial session of the Pacific Union Conference. It is probable that this important gathering—

SAVE THE OTHER MAN'S TIME

Would it not be a good plan for every individual to make work as easy for others as it is possible for him to do? Take the business man for example. If you owe him an account why not aid in making business less expensive for him by paying the account without his rendering repeated statements? If it is a business man who is engaged in the line of business in which he makes deliveries of merchandise to you why not give him sufficiently large orders at one time that he can make the deliveries without losing money in the transaction he has with you?

There is considerable business carried on in Southern California in these busy times that is made more expensive to the people engaged in the business for the reason that they are required to do the work several times in order to satisfy their customers. If every person could assist in saving for others in this way it would be one way of reducing the high cost of living.

How customary it is when a committee is appointed for the purpose of raising money by subscription for a deserving local enterprise, probably a Fourth of July celebration or a city boosting demonstration, that the persons upon whose shoulders is placed the responsibility of doing the soliciting are forced to call upon the subscribers several times before the money is paid into the treasury. In an instance like this the one who is soliciting the subscriptions should not be any more interested in the welfare of the cause than are those whom he solicits, but it has become fashionable to make it as embarrassing and burdensome for the man doing the collecting as it is possible to make it.

This way of placing so much responsibility upon the man who has been appointed to collect money for a worthy cause has made it difficult in later years to have men accept such a position. The treatment these men get from the general public places them in the attitude of common beggars more than men of philanthropic spirit. If you have subscribed ten dollars for a worthy cause in your city the best way is to pay the cash at the time you subscribe and if it is not convenient to do that care should be taken that it is not necessary for the solicitor to call upon you the second time. And if, perchance, he does call arrangements should be made at your place of business to have the payment made without having the solicitor make another call.

The merchant who has small accounts due him from customers sets aside a day for making collections. He learns after a hard day's work that he has made but little headway. After having failed to receive payment by mail he thinks the only way is to make personal calls and it is indeed discouraging to be turned away with the request that he is to come some other day when the money will be available. Why not make it easy for this man who has honestly furnished the merchandise to you by paying these small accounts even without the expense of a statement being mailed to you and if the statement is allowed to come to your home then hasten to pay the account before he is put to further expense, because in the world of well-regulated business all of these items of expense that are heaped upon the merchant must be finally paid by the customer. Thus we complain about the high cost of living. Let us resolve to reduce the cost of living by aiding in cutting down the expenses of those with whom we do business.

A movement has been started to "popularize the two-dollar bill." We know an excellent way—offer 'em to the public at $1.95 apiece.

WEDDED FIFTY YEARS

Mr. and Mrs. George H. Warren of 640 North Maryland Avenue, this city, were among the guests invited to celebrate the golden wedding of Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Callaway of Buena Park with feastings and other festivities January 6th. They and the Warrens are friends of twenty-five years' standing and they are delighted to have an opportunity to participate in honoring those who are still active and prominent in the community in spite of their advanced years. Mr. Callaway having passed his 89th birthday. The affair has been thus described by Mr. Warren:

The aged and excellently preserved couple served a delicious dinner to forty-seven friends, among whom were Mr. and Mrs. John Marti, and Mr. and Mrs. Godfrey Marti of Long Beach, Rev. and Mrs. Haffen of Santa Fe Springs, Mr. and Mrs. Geo. H. Warren of Glendale, Mr. and Mrs. Kibbe of Van Nuys, Dr. and Mrs. Harold and Miss Ida Murphy of Santa Paula.

Mrs. Callaway personally received her guests with inimitable wit and skill, performing all the duties of hostess with charming old-time courtesy and grace, while Mr. Callaway responded to calls for "Speech, speech," with astounding memory and capacity for events which the ripeness of 89 years has made possible.

No children came to Mr. and Mrs. Callaway, but they have carefully raised three orphans, two daughters living East and one son, B. A. Calloway, who with his capable wife brought the affairs of the day to such successful completion.

HOMESICKNESS CURED

Mrs. Anna I. Doud came to Los Angeles from Chicago a year ago. A recent visit to Glendale so impressed her with its desirability as a residence city that she bought a home at 207 North Kenwood. Before she could move in the new purchase a longing for the old home, where all her relatives and the friends of a lifetime lived, beset her and she went back to Chicago, after listing her property here for sale. But the bitter cold of the Windy City so repelled her that she at once telegraphed to have the listing of her property canceled and began to pack her furniture for the return trip.

Her brother, L. A. Rice, accompanied her to make his home with her, and a sister, Mrs. W. A. Barr, came as a guest for a few months. Though her furniture is still on the way, and she is simply camping in the new home, she is happy to be permanently located in beautiful Glendale, which she regards as the most desirable residence city she has seen.

Mark Russels's six-room house at 615 North Louise is almost ready for occupancy.

A compactly built six-room bungalow is being erected at 421 Salem Street for D. J. Johnson. It will be ready to move into in a few weeks.

C. W. Ingledue is contributing his modest share in providing houses for the incoming multitudes by putting up a five-room house at 208 North Jackson Street.

The large oil station being erected at the corner of Los Feliz and San Fernando for W. E. Anderson at a cost of $1600 is almost finished. It is one of the most complete plants in the city for the purpose intended.

Some substantial buildings are being enlarged to keep pace with the city's progress. Among those are Dr. Parker's at 426 North Maryland and E. W. Richardson at 317 North Brand. Each of these represents an investment of $1000.

Mr. and Mrs. David Black and Mrs. Black's mother, Mrs. William Scott of 1450 Kenneth Road, were entertained Wednesday evening at the Gates Hotel in Los Angeles by Mr. and Mrs. E. F. Hempstead, friends of former days in Mendota, Ill. Dr. Kate C. Moody of Highland Park was also a guest.

Kenneth Belden, a former student of Glendale Union High School, has just designed a stage setting for a musical comedy written by an Occidental College student which is to be given in Eagle Rock in the near future. He has shown talent before along these lines and this effort is said to be daring in conception.

Mrs. C. N. Williams of 128 West Maple reports the receipt of good letters from her daughter, Mrs. Lorenzo Rifenberick, reporting that in spite of the fact that Berkeley has a very different climate from Southern California she likes her new home very much. Mr. Rifenberick is in the employ of the Standard Oil Company.

Frank M. Newell, who has been staying with E. R. Best and wife on Fernando Court, while his wife is spending the winter in the old home, Boston, Mass., leaves tomorrow for Ontario, where he owns a small ranch. He will work in the Hot Point factory. He had hoped to stay in Glendale and may yet make his home here, but the chance of permanent employment made the move necessary.

Wm. Eeklemer, a retired grocer of Los Angeles, recently bought the eight-room modern home at 448 Pioneer Drive and has moved into it with his family.

John Dawson of the Groceries meat market, who came to Los Angeles from Colorado, has bought the Schuyler place at 361 West Wilson Avenue and moved his family to Glendale.

F. Enoksen of Eagle Rock, after looking longingly over into Glendale for some time, finally decided to become a resident of the greater city, so bought a very pleasant home at 324 South Adams Street and moved over the line.

Adolph Englehart, a very conservative capitalist who has been diligently looking over Southern California for six months past with a view to locating, recently bought a corner lot in the Bellehurst tract and will later build an attractive bungalow home.

Meade MacGuire, Young People's Secretary of the General Conference of Seventh-day Adventist churches, who recently came to Glendale from Washington, D. C., has bought a home at 317 West Lexington Drive and he and his wife are now occupying it.

Earl L. Schuyler, who has been ranching near Phoenix, Ariz., for the past two years, has sent word to tenants of his property at 330 Ivy St. to vacate the house as he expects to return to Glendale to live. The family, which consists of Mr. and Mrs. Schuyler; two sons and two daughters, will be warmly welcomed by neighbors and old friends.

R. A. Walker, who is connected with the Lord & Thomas advertising agency, Chicago, has located in Glendale at 320 Fairview Avenue, though his office associates in Los Angeles tried hard to induce him to buy property in the big city. But his first visit to Glendale so appealed to him that he decided at once that this city should be his home.

Mrs. Theodore Pyle, of 108 East Chestnut Street, has just returned from a year's visit with a daughter in Eureka, Kansas. She says the entire month of December was very cold and snowy and that when she left the mercury was very low and snow covered the ground to a depth of several inches. Beautiful sunny Glendale was a welcome sight. She was three days and nights coming owing to the length of the train, the crowded condition of traffic both ways and the heavy snows.

Frank Hester, Jr., of 203 East Maple Street, after spending the holidays at home has returned to his studies in the agricultural school at Davis. His parents went to the station to see him off and Mrs. Hester says she was astonished to discover how many boys from Southern California are going to school there. They are a fine husky lot of fellows and a good advertisement of the school. They include about six students from Glendale, one of whom is the son of Rev. E. E. Ford, pastor of the Baptist Church, and all of them appear to enjoy their work immensely.

DEATH OF FRANK L. NELL

Mr. Frank L. Nell, who has been a resident of Glendale for many years, passed away Jan. 7, 1920, at 10:30 a. m., surrounded by his wife and children. His death was caused by an operation for gangrene, in which his left leg was amputated above the knee. Seven years ago Mr. Nell sustained a stroke of paralysis which placed him in a partially disabled condition. In all he has borne five severe shocks by paralysis, the last one placing him in an entirely helpless condition. He was about 70 years old.

Mr. Nell was a member of the Lutheran Church. The funeral services will be held in "The Little Church of the Flowers," at 10 o'clock on Saturday morning in charge of L. G. Seovern Co. Undertakers, and Rev. R. W. Mottern, pastor of the deceased.

A COINCIDENCE

One of the coincidences that sometimes occur in this big world which is yet so small, came to light a few days ago. John Cooper, born in Australia, emigrated to Chicago, where he became an employee of one of the biggest packing companies in the world. R. A. Walker, born in Australia, emigrated to Chicago, and was employed by probably the largest advertising agency in the United States. Both have recently moved to Glendale with their families, securing their homes through the same real estate agency, and they now live within four blocks of each other.

THE MUTUAL BENEFIT READING CIRCLE

The Mutual Benefit Reading Circle began the new year most enthusiastically with the one hundred and fiftieth meeting of the organization at the home of Mrs. Charles Toll on Kenneth Road.

The members greatly enjoyed hearing the reading of several cards and letters of greeting from former members now in other places. All expressed their keen interest in the Circle activities and some are carrying on the same work in other places.

This combined with the many words of appreciation of the little book of quotations entitled "Immortelles," which the Circle recently published so successfully, added to the pleasure of the meeting.

Three questions from the Question Box, into which any member may put a question concerning any problem particularly perplexing, discussed most earnestly and interestingly.

These discussions add many helpful suggestions in child training aside from the Reading Course.

The time assigned to reading was spent on that part of Ellen Campbell's "Practical Motherhood," in which she describes so delightfully the many interesting forms of animal and plant life about us in which we may interest our children.

REMODELING WORKS TRANSFORMATION

Last April Dr. E. Buckner of Los Angeles bought the five-acre tract that J. W. McFadden had owned for several years at 610 West Broadway. He has recently begun the complete remodeling of the large, old-fashioned house that stood in a thick grove of trees on the front of the lot. The trees have been thinned out and the house is being made over into a modern home of twelve rooms, which the doctor will occupy when completed. The grounds and the acreage back of the house will be greatly improved, also, and Doctor Buckner, when he moves into the new possession, can congratulate himself on having a complete home. The small house just east of the large one will be made over and enlarged for occupancy by Mrs. Buckner's mother. When Mr. McFadden bought the property it was a country ranch, more than a mile from the village of Glendale. Now it is a fine city home.

CHANGE FOR BERT WOODARD

Bert P. Woodard of North Maryland Avenue is advising friends and patrons that he has severed his connection with William T. Craig, General Counsel for the Los Angeles Wholesalers' Board of Trade, and has removed his office to 710-714 Hass Building, Los Angeles, where he will engage in the general practice of law. Mr. Woodard has been a resident of this city for about seven years and has a large circle of friends here. He will also be associated with Attorney James McBryde in law offices on Brand Boulevard in which he will spend a certain portion of the day. The Wholesalers Board of Trade with which he was connected in a legal capacity for five years, is composed of wholesale dealers of Los Angeles who are necessarily interested in almost every failure in Southern California from Bakersfield to San Diego. This connection brought him a large acquaintance among substantial business men and much experience in commercial law and in bankruptcy cases which will make his services of value to clients.

been held in two places, in the Glendale Baptist Church of which Rev. E. E. Ford is pastor, to accommodate the worshippers in the upper part of the city, and in the Tropic Presbyterian Church for the convenience of attendants in the southern part. Tuesday night Rev. W. E. Edmonds conducted the service in the Baptist Church and Rev. Ford in the Presbyterian Church. Wednesday Rev. Ford led the service in his own church and Rev. Clifford Cole the service in the southern part of the city. This is the first time that the churches have combined in such services.

SNIVELY'S RETURN TO GLENDALE

When the Valley View tract was opened for settlement about fifteen years ago Claire E. Snively and wife who had come out here from Canton, Ill., accompanied by their only son, Vernon, bought a lot at what is now 324 Vine Street, and built a very handsome seven-room bungalow. This they sold after a few years and moved on Penn Street. Then when Mr. Snively became Chief of Police under his brother-in-law, Mayor Sebastian of Los Angeles, they were required to live in that city, so moved across the P. E. tracks into a house they had built. Glendale still had its charms for them, however, and not long ago they came to stay for a time with Mrs. Snively's father on South Central Avenue while they looked for a place to buy. The attractive six-room bungalow Dan Carney is building at 800 North Brand Boulevard proved to be what they wanted, so they bought and are now urging the workmen on to finishing it so they can move in next week.

age is cut into lots, as it will be, and all vacant lots are built upon, the district will have 50,000 people. We should lay the ground work now to accommodate a high school for 50,000 people and fifteen acres is small enough. The site I propose is admirably located and is as convenient as the old site. Only one block from Broadway, one block from Brand, and Glendale and Colorado will always be fine residence streets and popular driveways and connecting streets. There would be no danger in closing streets for Kenwood and Jackson are only open to Colorado and Isabel runs only to Harvard now. It would be close to both street car lines. There would be a serious difficulty encountered in moving the present site eastward across Louise Street, for Louise is one of the longest, most important thoroughfares in the city and should never be closed at any point for a block. This would not be the case with either Kenwood, Jackson or Isabel across the proposed new site. There would be no need of these streets further south than Harvard.

This new site would be close to the city library, the first house, City Hall, the churches and business houses and yet be in a measure secluded from all of them and free from all things disquieting, and close enough to car lines. The dwelling houses on the site need not all be salvaged now but only such as were needed immediately. The others could be rented for some time to pay interest on the bonds.

And What to Do With the Present Site?

It could be sold at a big figure. The lots are worth much. The buildings never were fit for a first-class high school and if wrecked now no doubt would sell for a good sum as material is high. But Glendale City needs it. The present City Hall is only sufficient for the Public Service Department, and let it be used for that wholly. Buy the present High School grounds. They would make an elegant civic center, so very convenient to all. Take away the small buildings and remodel the big one. It would make a City Hall, Red Cross headquarters, Y. M. C. A. rooms, baths, laboratories, rest rooms, gymnasium, etc. No need for a swimming pool. They are unsanitary and a nuisance at best. Fix up the grounds, plant plenty of shade trees and have seats and lounging places for sitting down to rest. We could have some playground, a city auditorium could some time be built at the corner of Louise and Colorado. Nothing need be wasted because of the new school site selected.

All the foregoing could be worked out. We went in liberally to furnish men and supplies to go to Europe to fight. We have dipped in deep to build and equip lodge buildings. We are going to dip in deep to build churches, theatres and business blocks. Now why not make a big dip in to give us the foundation of a creditable public school, an enterprise and institution which is the foundation of all other good things. And now: "If it were as easy to do as to know what were good to be done, chapels had been churches and poor men's cottages princes' palaces."

ing will be held in Glendale, although Sacramento is also in the race to secure it. The meeting will bring delegates from Arizona, Nevada, Utah and western Colorado, besides those coming from all parts of California and the leading churchmen who will be here from Washington, D. C., and other parts of the East.

Elder Andross said that on his trip he passed through three winters in two years. He spent seven months traveling more than eight thousand miles in Africa, visiting the Seventh-day Adventist mission stations at various places in the remote interior, where travelers are for weeks, and oftentimes months, cut off from all communication with the outside world, where the roads are only native footpaths, and journeys must be made on foot, or with the old-fashioned, slow moving ox wagons.

The gospel completely transforms the lives of the natives, Elder Andross said, lifting them from their beer-drinking, vice, idolatry, indolence and unspeakable habits, to a life of honesty, sobriety, industry and Christian conduct. Speaking of his visit to a Seventh-day Adventist mission station in Basutoland, he said:

"The blessed gospel is reaching the hearts of those native people, and gripping them with a grip which will never be released until they are completely transformed and made like Christ. I shall never forget the day I stood and spoke to those Basuto people through an interpreter. When we had spoken, we called upon the native chiefs to speak, before giving the same opportunity to all. One, Matsela by name, chief counsellor to old Chief Jonathan, one of the three paramount chiefs of Basutoland, arose and said, 'A few days ago something said to me, "You ought to be a Christian." From this day forward I will obey that voice. I give my heart today to Jesus.' He surrendered with weeping. A great, strong man, he humbled his heart, and when the service was over, made his way immediately to the superintendent of the mission and leader of the meeting, enrolling as a candidate for baptism, and to receive the instruction which always precedes that sacred rite. Several other chiefs took their stand for Christ at the same time.

"I think I shall never forget the deep impressions made upon my heart by my visit to Africa, and I determined to do my utmost to turn the hearts of our young people to the Dark Continent, for there must be tens of thousands of souls among the two hundred million there, only waiting to know God's will, and ready to obey. Some of the kraals of Africa and the villages of India we visited had never before seen a white face. As we talked to them of Christ, the Saviour of men, they would plead with us with weeping to send them some one to teach them.

"Concerning the expense of maintaining the missions, I may say that there are, in parts of Africa, tens of thousands of native converts to Christianity who are maintaining their own evangelistic work by their own contributions, the only outside aid being the salaries paid the white workers by the mission boards. As soon as possible after a mission is established, the work for the natives is made self-supporting. Africa has 834 languages and dialects. I wish we had a thousand missionaries to send to Africa immediately, for the native populations, steeped in ignorance and superstition, are sadly in need of the very work of uplift that the missionaries can do in their behalf."

Elder Andross told also of strides being made in mission operations in India, which has three times the population of the United States, and whose people worship three hundred thirty million gods. He visited Benares, the sacred city of the Hindu, which tradition says was a city of gold, and came down from heaven. "It is anything but gold," said Elder Andross, "for it is covered with mud." To Benares the natives make long pilgrimages, measuring their length in the dust for many miles, even though, at times, the temperature registers 140 degrees in the shade.

TWELFTH NIGHT REVELS

ed and acted the part of a Chinese gentleman to perfection. Miss Champlain, treasurer, wore a very beautiful Chinese coat and a wonderful headband. There were Red Cross girls—the garb looking very queer by the way in conjunction with a hideous facial mask. One young woman was very fetching as a Chinese sailor, there were several pretty gypsies, and a Spanish señorita in scarlet silk gown and black lace mantilla. A dainty confection in rose pink tarleton with picture hat to match with the aid of a masque so disguised Mrs. Helen Campbell none of her friends knew her. Another pretty costume was of lavender tarleton with close scoop bonnet to match trimmed with violets, which was worn by Miss Ina Whitaker who carried a crook and was presumably a shepherdess.

There was an attractive harlequin costume of green and white, and there were also "the trailing garments of the night," of somber black trimmed with silver stars, and a headdress of black veils. A Mermaid was present, too, sheathed in scarfs of a variety of pastelle shades, suggesting the sea at dawn, and draped with shells.

It was a good-time function, and if all subsequent programs give as much pleasure to those who participate, the "Players' Club" should become a very popular institution. Officers present were D. Lamont Greene, president; Miss Nellie Mai Williams, first vice president; Miss Ina Whitaker, corresponding secretary; David N. Wemyss, recording secretary; Miss Gertrude Champlain, treasurer, and the following list of patrons:

Rev. and Mrs. Cornell, Mrs. Lamont Greene, Miss Ellen Williams, Mrs. Chetwoode Hamilton, Mrs. Eleanor A. Whitaker, Mrs. David N. Wemyss, Mrs. Helen Campbell, Mrs. William Porter, Mrs. A. G. L. "THE CAMPFIRE"

MR. KELLOGG MAKES ANNOUNCEMENTS OF INTEREST TO SCOUTS OF GLENDALE

Attention Scouts! Hereafter, all tests must be taken at headquarters, City Hall, on Wednesdays at 4:30. This will be the regular meeting of the Board of Examiners, and tests will not be given at any other time. The outdoor tests, such as cooking, fire-lighting, tracking, etc., will be given on the Council hikes or at Camp Letts.

Beginning with the next issue of "The Campfire," all tests passed will be reported. By watching this column, then, it will be easy to tell what boys and what troops are the real hustlers. See to it that you do your bit toward giving your troop a good record.

Troop 3

The boys of Troop 3 will be given an overnight hike to Camp Letts on Friday, January 16th, under direction of Scout executive Kellogg. They will leave the corner of Broadway and Glendale on the 3:53 car for Burbank, and will hike to camp from Burbank. Those who wish may return home on Saturday afternoon, and the others may remain with Mr. Kellogg through the Scout Bible Class on Sunday morning, returning in time for dinner.

Any Scouts from other troops who would like to join this gay crowd will be more than welcome, provided they make arrangements with Mr. Kellogg at headquarters in advance. "The more the merrier."

Twelve Good Scouts

Mr. Kellogg wishes to express his appreciation and hearty praise to the twelve Scouts who staged the little Scout exhibition at the Council banquet on Tuesday evening. The boys did exceptionally well, and carried out their demonstration without a hitch. Patrol Leader Robert Searle deserves special credit for his able directorship.

Troop 2, Scout Initiation

At the regular meeting of Troop Two last Friday evening the initiation of new members took place. After a short business meeting the room was cleared, and the initiation, consisting of a number of thrilling and mysterious episodes, began. It was short but snappy, and, according to those initiated, it took all the courage and bravery required by the tenth law to submit to it. The boys who were initiated were Scouts Walker, Read, L. Hatch, R. Hatch, Kalbaugh, Kruntzner, McCormack, Jackson and Bement.

The boys of Troop Two, accompanied by their Scoutmaster, Dr. Farwell, will leave Friday afternoon at 4 p. m. from their headquarters, Bank of Glendale Branch building, for a week end trip to Camp Arthur Letts. A pleasant time is anticipated by every one.

Scouts Benjamin Robisin, Willard Roberts and Stillman Chase of Troop Two, Glendale, assisted Troop Five, Pasadena, at Tournament Park New Year's day.

Scouts Thomas Wood, C. G. Farrow, Burton Kruntzner and Wilfred Jackson of Troop Two helped in the Scout officials' banquet last Tuesday evening at the White Inn.

HONORING THE AMERICAN PRESS

It was highly proper that one of the Hog Island ships should be christened "The American Press" in recognition of the services of the newspapers of the United States during the great war. It has been the policy of the Shipping Board to name certain of the vessels launched here for the various factors and organizations which were instrumental in winning the conflict, and it is gratifying to note that the fourth estate is not overlooked.

Comparatively little has been said of the wonderfully patriotic work of the American newspapers because those who conduct and produce these journals are not in the habit of boasting about it. Nevertheless it is highly creditable that the great newspapers of the country—the English printed newspapers—were loyal to the core and did everything in their power to assist the government. This fact was true regardless of partisanship and of party affiliations. From the moment that war was declared until the armistice was signed the editors of the great newspapers were as a unit in urging whole-hearted and patriotic support of the administration.

Those who were in charge of the conflict cheerfully admit that if it had not been for this practically unanimous support their task would have been much heavier, if not impossible. At the very outset the newspapers aroused the martial spirit of the Nation. They joined in the call for volunteers and they made the working of the Selective Draft law easy and practical where it might readily have been a source of irritation and trouble. They helped to sell the bonds of the government, they cooperated with the Red Cross, and in every conceivable manner they strengthened the hands of the government.

That is the American way. It is to be expected and is done without hope of reward. Nevertheless it is pleasant to have all this recognized in the launching of the American Press. Long may she breast the seas!—Long Beach Telegram.
